

Craig's List Job Ad for Registered Nurse Caregiver

Hi everybody! I have a job for a registered nurse that I'm looking to fill right away. I'm a 27-year-old male quadriplegic and on a ventilator.

In 2009, I had an accident that left me paralyzed from my neck down.

I am also type 1 diabetic. I currently live at home and would like to find help to keep me living at home and independent.

I'm a very real and down to earth person. I like to see things how they are, no sugar coating. I like to laugh and make others laugh, but everyone goes through ups and downs. I'm still a bit of a daredevil and that won't change. I have my share of life stories and experiences, and I am going to make so many more!

I like to watch movies (occasionally going to the movie theater), I listen to music almost all the time and I love food... It's one of the things that has kept me sane, I spend a lot of time on the computer doing work, keeping in contact with friends and family, or just playing games, and sometimes when the weather is nice I like to go to the park or hang out outside.

I have my own van and one thing I would need you to be able to do while you are working with me is driving me around.

Some of the tasks that I need done (depending on the shift) and would need you able to do would be:

- Diabetes care
- Turning and re-positioning
- Single person transfer from bed to wheelchair or vice versa (with a ceiling lift)
- Medications
- Trach suctioning
- Light housework
- Meal preparation and feeding
- Personal hygiene

All of the things I've listed and any I have forgotten I am willing to teach you because then I can teach you how to do them the way I like them done.

I'm currently in need of one registered nurse to work Saturday and Sunday 8 AM – 8 PM. Get a hold of me for more specifics on what the shifts are as well as the wages.

I am currently in need of a full-time caregiver as an IP through the state. As an IP you would need First Aid and CPR certifications and to attend a short class about care-giving unless you already have an IP billing number through the state or if you have a current CNA or equivalent. If you want to know more about the credentials needed, please let me know.

If you are interested even the slightest bit, please do not hesitate to contact me and we can talk more.